

19th Anniversary Sale

We Never Quoted Prices That Averaged So Low.

We never offer poorly made, inferior goods for the sake of quoting a low price. All prices we quote, however low, must be for articles of merit. Bear this in mind when reading our sale offerings. To keep up the interest already created in our sale we find it necessary to add many new specials to take the place of the many already closed. Below are just a few leaders for next week.

"Escaped from the Harem" is the title of a new sensational melodrama which will be enacted at the Barre opera house Wednesday evening. In the climax of this piece the heroine escapes from the harem on the back of a trusted elephant, pursued by the Persian slaves of her master. The play is full of exciting events and the scenic equipment is said to be elaborate.

At a regular meeting of Col. J. B. Meade Circle, No. 1, Ladies of the G. A. R., the following officers were installed by Past President Angeline Thurston: President, Etta LaPage; senior vice, Mary Carpenter; junior vice, Florence Morehouse; treasurer, Inez Tubbs; chaplain, Ellen Minard; secretary, Hannah Batchelder; guard, Adeline Sharkey; Angeline Thurston was installed as conductor by Past President Hannah Batchelder. Appointments by the national society: May Carpenter, inspector; Inez Tubbs, national correspondent.

It is quite safe to state that there has not in years been so much discussion over any theatrical attraction booked for this city as has James H. Wallick's new play which is to be produced at the Barre Opera House, Jan. 18, the full title of which is "Escaped from the Harem," or "The White Bride of India." The scenes are laid in this country and in Persia. The second act of the play shows the famous harem of the noted Prince Agara near Siam; shows accurately the interior which is so sumptuously fitted; beautiful wives of the Imperial Prince, his cruel and inhuman guard and the Nubian slaves. There are twenty-four speaking parts in the piece, all of which demand actors of ability and considerable experience. The scenery is naturally elaborate. There is an unusually big demand for seats and the prospects are that there will be a very large attendance.
